So great to hear! As far as I'm concerned, three is the magic number. Plus there's something about third children and birth order; they're entertaining kids. Our third – also a daughter – is just a really fun kid. Brings a lot of joy to our family. Maybe third children learn to go with the flow early on, because they have no other choice? Maybe they learn from their older siblings? Who knows, but it's wonderful. Really happy for you and your family!

Hi Paul,

Congrats on wrapping up the Dewey Burdock RTC, and thanks for sharing! And thank you for your kind words- we're doing well, and my older kids are loving their baby sister. She's a really happy baby, and we're loving having her around 😊

Lauren,

Following up on the NILWG call this past Wednesday – it's great to hear that you're back. I hope all is well with you and your now-larger family, and that you and the baby are happy and healthy. I'd love to see a baby picture at some point if you don't mind.

While you were out, Region 8 issued the UIC permits for the Dewey Burdock uranium mine project near the Black Hills (<https://www.epa.gov/uic/epa-dewey-burdock-class-iii-and-class-v-injection-well-final-area-permits>). Thanks again for your input, from before your maternity leave, on the draft response to comments document. The final is attached. It's a monstrous document, at over 500 pages, but there is a table of contents with sections on tribal consultation and tribal treaty rights. We fully expect legal challenges, and I'll contact you when we receive them. I'm sure we'll want to coordinate on the Indian law claims.

In the meantime, happy holidays to you and your family!
